INTRODUCTION

The Hang Seng University of Hong Kong (HSUHK) School of Business has joined forces with prestigious universities in Mainland China, South Korea, the United States and the United Kingdom to launch the China Business Forum, to foster constructive dialogue between academia and industry by addressing critical challenges and emerging opportunities within China's dynamic business landscape

As the first-of-its-kind forum dedicated to bridging academia and industry within the context of China's dynamic business environment, it will bring together distinguished scholars, senior executives, and policymakers for in-depth dialogue, knowledge exchange, and collaborative exploration.

With participation from distinguished Deans, faculty members, and industry leaders, the Forum will facilitate meaningful dialogues between leading scholars and business professionals that bring together thought leadership and practical insights into the evolving Chinese business landscape.

OBJECTIVES

The China Business Forum is guided by the following key objectives:

- Bridging Academia and Industry: The Forum will serve as a strategic interface between leading business schools and industry stakeholders, enabling dialogue on current and emerging challenges in Chinese business practices, policy, and innovation.
- Fostering Research Exchange: Academic researchers will gain exposure by presenting their work to renowned scholars and practitioners, enhancing the impact and global relevance of research conducted by member universities.
- Creating a Platform for Long-term Collaboration: The Forum will function as a foundation for sustained academic partnerships, collaborative research initiatives, and cross-border education programmes that align with the strategic goals of member universities.
